Shriners Conclude Trip To Seattle Meeting

E. A. Brewster, Joseph McKee and Leo Burger returned Monday afternoon to Placerville, completing a weekend during which they shared with other members of Ben All temple of the Shrine, at Sacramento, in a weekend visit to Seattle for a ceremonial. All three report a very enjoyable trip and a successful meeting.

COUNTY WOOL POOL SOLD MONDAY

20,000 Pounds Bring Average Of 43 Cents From Stockton Buyers

Monday was an important day for a group of sheep men of the county who pooled their wool to sell as a group under arrangements concluded through the county Farm Bureau sheep department, with Roy M. Marks as chairman, assisted by William Davey, wool marketing chairman.

The pool of twenty thousand pounds of wool was sold to the Stockton Wool Company for a total of $8,600 or at a price of 43 cents per pound.

Officials said that the purchasing concern has agreed to report within a few days on the poundage per grower and other details concerning the clip.

This is the first wool pool in the county for several years, although for a number of years past a number of the sheep men of the county whose flocks are small have joined in a pool at Plymouth.

Softball Opens Fourth Season

Parade And Special Doings Initiate Play; Schedule May Be Amended

Organized softball opened its fourth season in the county Monday night at Marcus P. Bennett, Jr. Memorial Park.

Preparatory to the start of play, various teams of the three leagues in the association, led by the high school band with the grammar school band in the line of march, proceeded down Main Street from the Ivy Hotel to Lower Main.

In addition to the softball teams, the procession included representatives of various bowling teams in the county, giving a representation of the number of persons actively interested in sports in the county.

At the park, Mayor Charles Molinari tossed the first ball, a miniature softball, and too much of a miniature for Chairman Cyril Heuser of the Board of Supervisors, to locate with his bat. Hazel Davey, of the Legionettes, served as catcher.

With this formality, the regular games went on. Special awards of the night included a case of beer to Louis Neal for the first home run, and five gallons of gas to Barbara Shepler for the first stolen base. A pair of stockings offered for the first girls' home run was unclaimed.

QUIGLEY GROCERY MOVES DURING WEEKEND TO NEW LOCATION

The J. H. Quigley grocery store, for many years at the corner of Main and Sacramento streets, moved during the weekend and opened for business on the north side of Main Street in the building formerly occupied by the Lewis & Lewis plumbing shop.

Mr. Hern said his San Francisco work will be in the title business.

Mr. Hern has been in that business for many years, having come to Placerville a little more than a year ago after several years in business there.

Drunk Driving "Ante" Raised By New Judge

A new note sounded in the Justice Courts of the county on Tuesday morning as Justice of the Peace Richard G. Hosking, at El Dorado, heard his first case on the criminal calendar.

The defendant was Frank G. Poteet, cited Saturday by Officer Charles Flick of the State Highway Patrol, on charges of drunken driving.

Justice of the Peace Hosking imposed a fine of $250 with the alternative of one hundred twenty-five days in jail.

The fine raises the "ante" for drunken drivers, it having been the custom previously to assess a $200 fine.

LEGISLATURE WITHOUT PAY

Present Session May Be Expected To Conclude On Or About June 10th

By A. G. THURMAN
Assemblyman, Sixth District
SACRAMENTO — The most important measure passed by the lower house last week was the Garland Bill Now 2820, a measure designated to cut California taxes by more than $20,000,000 during 1941-1943 biennium.

The measure passed the assembly by a vote of 58 to 20. It now goes to the senate where it may face some opposition.

The Garland measure would reduce the sales and use tax revenue by $18,000,000; the motor transportation tax collections $400,000, bank and corporation levies $2,050,000, personal income tax $2,100,000 and the liquor and wine excise taxes $1,700,000.

The bill would also reduce the sales tax from 3 per cent to two and one half per cent on July 1, 1942 and would be effective until June 30, 1944. The other levies would be cut by a credit of 10 per cent, with the alcoholic beverage and motor transportation taxes effective on July 1, 1942 and the others on December 31 of the same year.

Speaker Gordon Garland presented his bill from the floor of the assembly. He said in part:

"The people of California now are faced with the most staggering tax load in their history. We must give them relief if they are to carry the increasing burden of federal taxation from the defense activities."

"I can't understand how anyone could oppose this bill. The state income now is 23 per cent above the estimate in the Governor's budget and it will continue to increase. Even if it does not, our deficit can be wiped out and we can have surplus in spite of these tax cuts."

The budget bill which passed the Senate last week is now before a free conference committee composed of three members of each house when the lower house refused to concur in Senate amendments. As was predicted in last week's column the senate finance committee added $250,000 to the state forest division's budget to take care of increased wages for fire fighting crews.

A bill which would have changed the present grand jury system in the state was defeated in the assembly last week with most of the rural legislators voting against the measure. The bill proposed that members of grand jury service be selected for trial jury service.

The collective bargaining measure to make collective bargaining agreements between employers and organized labor enforceable at law and equity in the courts, passed the lower house with a vote of 69 to 1. Prior to the passage of the measure it was amended by the house.

Relief and reapportionment still remain to be settled by the legislature.

Inasmuch as the legislators' pay stopped last week it is likely that the business of both houses may be completed on or about June 10th.

Hospital Contracts For June Won By Kelly

Contracts to supply groceries and meats to the county hospital during the month of June have been awarded to M. T. Kelly, it was announced during the week by Stewart and Ed Willard. The low bid on groceries was $111.65. The meat bid was low on a variety of cuts.

FOREIGN POLICY TO BE TOLD BY ROOSEVELT

Administration's Course May Be Challenged By Proposal For Referendum

WASHINGTON (UP)—White House Secretary Stephen Early indicated today President Roosevelt will outline American foreign policy in detail in his fireside chat tonight. The speech will be extended 15 minutes longer than previously anticipated to 45 minutes.

The President cancelled all engagements today to concentrate on preparation of the address.

Congressional isolationists planned to challenge administration foreign policy with a national "peace or war" referendum and to dispatch a go-slow appeal to President Roosevelt before he delivers his fireside chat tonight.

They plan to warn the President against "undeclared war" and remind him of the constitutional proceedings which should precede hostilities.

Eight senators and 22 members of the house met yesterday to discuss those propositions while the world waited for Mr. Roosevelt's address at 9:30 p. m., EST., in which he is expected vigorously to state United States claims to freedom of the seas regardless of German objections to the North Atlantic patrol and to deal sharply with "defeatists" at home.

GERMAN BATTLESHIP BISMARCK SUNK 400 MILES OFF BREST

Nazis Retaliate With Claim British Fleet In Mediterranean "Destroyed" With Loss Of Eleven If Its Twelve Cruisers

United Press Foreign News Editor
By JOE ALEX MORRIS

The Royal Navy sent Germany's newest dreadnaught, the Bismarck, to the bottom of the Atlantic Ocean today in revenge for the Hood.

The Bismarck, working her guns to the end, went down 400 sea miles west of Brest, 2000 miles and 72 hours after the great 42,100-ton Hood had vanished in a magazine explosion in the Straits of Denmark between Greenland and Iceland.

Death of the Bismarck came at 11 a. m. today (5 a. m. EDT). It was a crippling loss for Germany's high seas fleet of capital ships, leaving her with only three dreadnaughts against Britain's 15—a ratio of British superiority of 5 to 1 against the 4 to 1 figure that prevailed before the encounter had started.

The British victory was an achievement for British air and naval cooperation in which an American plane, a four-motored Consolidated bomber played the leading role.

The U. S. plane spotted the Bismarck racing for the French coast about noon yesterday. Quickly the British hunting force smashed in for the kill. Already the Bismarck had been battered by torpedoes. Now the dead-eye pilots of the fleet air arm roared off for new attacks.

It was the aerial torpedo that sealed the Bismarck's fate. One explosive charge tore into the battleship's rudder and screws and left her unmaneuverable. The British battle fleet steamed in. The drama was nearing its end.

Nazi fleet commander, Admiral Guenther Luetjens, sent a radio message to Berlin: "The ship is unmaneuverable. We are fighting until the last shell. Long live the fuhrer."

The British battleship fleet came up and its big guns spoke across the horizon where Bismarck lay, its race over and too far from the coast of France for German air power to intervene.

The coupe de grace apparently was administered by torpedoes, possibly planes from the old aircraft carrier Ark Royal, the ship the Nazis so many times claimed they had sunk.

In Crete hard-pressed imperial forces fought against apparently increasing odds to repel the Nazi air invasion.

German sources, apparently hoping to soften the blow of the Bismarck's loss which was admitted by the official news agency, trumpeted claims of British naval losses around Crete, claiming Britain's eastern Mediterranean fleet has been "destroyed" with a loss of 11 of its 12 cruisers.

The British awaited with great expectations President Roosevelt's address tonight which they were confident would provide them at least a "shot in the arm."

This is one of a series of illustrated articles designed to inform the public of the progress being made by American industry in providing the weapons for national defense. The facts presented have been gathered in surveys of leading defense industries and from other authoritative sources.

Building the giant Diesel engines that power the United States Navy fighting and auxiliary ships is one of industry's most challenging jobs. Huge crankshafts, cylinder blocks, pistons and rotors down to the smallest parts must be machined to the highest degree of accuracy. Inspections are frequent and endurance of Uncle Sam's ships are in a large measure dependent on the accuracy of the workmanship.

Diesel engines have been developed and are being produced by American industry in numerous sizes and for various needs of the defense program—both on sea and land.

The smaller six and eight cylinder units are being built for general marine use and for auxiliary engines in naval vessels and also for tanks, trucks and tractors.

The larger ones (see illustration above) are used in such naval craft as tugs, tenders, mine-sweepers and mine-layers. They are also used in submarines both for surface power and for recharging batteries. In fact, the modern submarine owes its very existence to Diesel power.

Diesel power is also a factor in high-speed railroad transportation, a fact not without significance in the defense program. A capacity for work exceeding that in any previous unit of its kind has been incorporated in the powerful, new 2000- and 4000-horsepower diesel-electric locomotives which have been developed by American industry for American railroads. A maximum safe speed of 120 miles an hour is provided in these new locomotives.

It's fun to travel with Dad

My Dad's First Class — he takes mother and us children to hotels at night. We think that's half the fun of traveling. We always see lots of things to tell our friends about. When I get big I'm going to stay in hotels too.

I like to stay in town

A big part of my vacation is the shops and stores of other cities. When we stay at hotels—right in town—I see them all. And a hotel gives us a headquarters where we can meet, without depending on the car.

Somebody else waits on me

To me, a real vacation means two whole weeks free from worry about beds and meals. We always stop at hotels because my husband says I deserve a taste of the kind of service I give at home all year.

A lot more for your money....

To me a hotel means a place to entertain our friends, a forwarding address for mail, having my car worked on at night while I get a real sleep in a comfortable bed, in quiet, safe surroundings, and plenty of other services all under one roof.

I'm convinced that staying at hotels pays plenty of dividends in comfort and convenience. Sure, sometimes it costs a few cents more. But when I consider all the extra fun and pleasure it brings my family, I figure I'm money ahead to travel First Class and stop at hotels.

Discouraging Prospect For Pear Growers

May be an interesting but a rather disheartening story for the pear grower.

Shipment of 40,000 boxes of pears from Argentina were reported on May 15 in New York, other shipments due to leave South America during June. Quality of these pears are said to be excellent and it seems now that pears will be available up to July 1 after which date we will try and gather in a few dollars left over to pay our increased and necessary taxes.

As a farm leader stated shortly ago, it seems that there is only one solution, and that is of a change to a more home-supporting Farm Administration.

Seems too bad that we are not yet blessed with a heavy foreign importation of box shooks, autos, radios or anything else to get the American farmer and workers idle and broke so they can qualify for our W. P. A.

It is being said, Love Thy Neighbors, but it seems to me that "Washington" is being married to them.

Respectfully yours,
CARL VISMAN.

MOTHER OF FRUIT RIDGE RESIDENT CALLED AT SACRAMENTO

In addition to the above, a sister, Mrs. Julia Briggs Nielsen, of Palo Alto, three grandchildren and one great grandson survive.

FORD PARK HELD FOR TRIAL ON CHARGE OF RAPE

Following a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace T. F. Lewis on Tuesday morning, Ford Park was bound over for trial in the Superior Court on a charge of rape.

The preliminary hearing included testimony by the fifteen-year-old girl who was the complaining witness against Park when he was arrested about two weeks ago.

Bail in the case was set at an earlier hearing at $2,000.

BLAIN GOES TO FOLSOM AS NEW TRIAL MOVE IS DENIED

George Everett Blain was sentenced to an indeterminate term of one to fifteen years at Folsom prison on Tuesday morning in Superior Court, following his recent conviction on two counts of burglary.

The court imposed the same sentence on each count and then ordered that they may run concurrently.

Blain's motion for a new trial was argued before the court and was denied. His attorney claimed the discovery of new evidence.

Blain was convicted of burglarizing a cabin on the property of Walter I. Bidstrup, near Logtown, on two separate occasions.

CALIFORNIA FARM PARADE

By United Press

Dairy production in the United States has set new high records. And the agriculture department says it's due to three main causes.

The best prices for dairy products in more than 10 years—relatively low prices for dairy feeds—and the best early pastures since 1929. Notwithstanding the record production of both milk and dairy products, the prices of dairy products have continued to go up.

The May prices of both butter and cheese have been above the averages for this month in any year since 1929 for butter — and since 1930 for cheese.

And with the good news of higher dairy production — comes more good news in the fight against bang's disease. The agriculture department believes it now has a sure fire to detect bang's disease in cattle. Department officials say the test compares favorably in accuracy and general dependability with the examination used for many years in checking for tuberculosis.

A statewide program to "help make America strong" through the production and use of health-giving, strength-building foods has been started in Tennessee. The state extension service reports that over 60,000 rural Tennessee persons have enrolled in the home food supply program and that about 20,000 families received certificates of recognition for producing 75 per cent or more of their food needs.

Milady's complexion isn't going to suffer on account of the war, if the forest service has anything to do with it. Juniper oil, you know, is needed to fix cosmetics, soaps, perfumes, and even medicines—it tends to keep these products from spoiling. The oil is made by distilling the berries, twigs and wood of the juniper tree.

In the past we've imported most of our juniper oil from Europe, but

WHAT MAKES MOTORS LOSE THEIR PEP?

HARD CARBON, for one thing. You see, excessive hard carbon throws finely tuned modern motors "out of balance".

How can you help avoid excessive carbon? By using Triton Motor Oil. You see, most carbon is formed from motor oil. But Triton is so pure it forms very little carbon. That's because it's refined by Union Oil's patented Propane-solvent process—which produces a 100% pure paraffin-base oil. Triton gives you as fine a lubricant as money can buy—PLUS freedom from excessive power-stealing carbon. Try it and see. At any Union Oil station or dealer.

THE Book Mark

By JANE VOILES

Dr. Milton Silverman conducts the science department for The San Francisco Chronicle. He writes simply and to the point so that the average reader looks for his articles. Now Dr. Silverman has written a book which he calls "Magic in a Bottle." Combining mystery story technique and the element of wonder found in the old fairy tales Dr. Silverman tells the story of drugs that are familiar to all of us. Behind every bottle in the bathroom cabinet, says the doctor, is the story of a man who fought and hunted and made mistakes and rose to the peaks of brilliance.

Would you believe that the discovery of morphine had anything to do with Robinson Crusoe? Dr. Silverman shows you the connection when he tells the story of the brilliant young Frederick Sertuener who made what his seniors chose to call "heretical" tests and who at the age of twenty-three discovered the mystery of opium. Although Frederick Sertuener turned treacherous opium into a pure and reliable drug, he died friendless and forgotten.

In their way the fever fighters exhibited the shrewdness, the daring and the wits of a Sherlock Holmes or a Charlie Chan. One time, however, the German Dr. Kolbe and his young chemists thought they had a germ killer in salicylic acid. Until later research by another doctor proved salicylic acid to be a painkiller and a fever fighter. The discovery of the fever fighter antipyrine was important because it marked the creation of a new industry—the great synthetic drug industry. How a dye-waste product was transformed into another powerful anti-fever drug reads like a story of enchantment.

Read "Magic in a Bottle" to learn how an old Norwegian legend predicted the virtues to be found in cod liver oil; science had to prove it. Read how the same miraculous properties abide in rays of light and in fish oil; how the one-time valueless nicotinic acid has come into its own. But the vitamin hunt, says Dr. Silverman, has only begun.

Sulfanilamide is almost an unknown quantity to most of us but Dr. Silverman divests it of its mystery. Its story did not come to the public notice until 1935. Since that time it has had a varied career. You may remember how it cured young Franklin Roosevelt, Jr., and you may remember a number of tragic deaths caused by a carelessly prepared product called "Elixir of Sulfanilamide."

Dr. Silverman tells how quinine, digitalis, cocaine came into usage; how the barbitals, germ-killers and hormones found their place in the modern medicine. We recommend "Magic in a Bottle" for intelligent readers interested in scientific medical research.

Among the new books out this month don't overlook the following:

1. "When the Living Strive," by Richard La Piere. It is a novel about a young Chinese immigrant who comes to San Francisco's Chinatown in the 1880's. Reviews of the book are extremely favorable.
2. "Desert Country," by Edwin Corle. The author knows his Southwest and knows how to write.
3. "A Field Throne," by Bertita Harding. Mrs. Harding the chronicler of Royalty par excellence tells the story of the Braganzas of Brazil. We were surprised to learn that Brazil had had three very colorful monarchs.
4. "Chili: Land of Progress," by Earl P. Hanson. This is a picture of Chili—historical and cultural. For those of us who need South American background to understand the current "Pan American" problems, this would be a helpful book.
5. "Trousers Will be Worn," by C. V. R. Thompson. We have it right from the feed box that this is jolly reading.
6. "A Yankee Doctor in Paradise," by S. M. Lambers. For many readers this is considered the best book of the month. Dr. Lambert lived in the South Seas for twenty years and made the most of it.

Leland Drew, regional supervisor for the Agricultural Conservation, was a visitor in Placerville at the AAA offices Tuesday.

EAMON DE VALERA OPPOSES BRITISH DRAFT PLAN FOR NORTH IRELAND

DUBLIN (UP)—Premier Eamon De Valera, opposing British conscription in Ulster, told the dial today that to force a man to fight for a country to which he did not desire to belong would be a grievous attack on fundamental human rights. De Valera spoke to a crowded session of parliament, denouncing Britain's plan to extend conscription to North Island, which Eire claims and which contains several hundred thousand republican supporters.

William T. Cosgrave, leader of the United Ireland party, supported the premier and said that if the situation were not handled properly it might involve the very existence of Eire.

BILL TIGHTENS LAW ON "BUNDS" AND OTHER FOREIGN GROUPS

SACRAMENTO (UP)—Gov. Culbert Olson today announced signing of a bill by Assemblyman Jack Tenney, Inglewood, designed to ban the wearing of uniforms by bunds and other "shirt" organizations.

The bill prohibits the wearing of foreign military or semi-military organizations unless the wearer is a bonafide member of such organization.

Tenney explained that in this way a person wearing such uniform could be prosecuted either for membership in a foreign military organization, or, if he maintained he was not a member, could be prosecuted for falsely wearing the uniform.
